RABBI'S REFLECTIONS

In The Canterbury Tales, Chaucer has the franklin (one who is relatively well-off, but not of noble birth), say: "patience is a virtue..." While Chaucer may have taken the line from classical authors, he introduced it into English, and it has come down to us through the ages. How many of us as parents, teachers, coaches, or mentors, have come across situations in which we ... just lose it. The story of the spies, in the Book of Numbers, is one such instance. Moses sends spies to the land of Canaan (the name of the country before it was the land of Israel), to do some reconnaissance before invading. The spies return, and eight of them report that conquering the land is far beyond the abilities of the Israelites. Two of them, Joshua and Caleb, disagree; they urge they Israelites forward, assuring them that they can do this, and reminding them that God will be on their side. The Israelites do not believe Joshua and Caleb, and announce that it is time for them to choose new leaders and head back to Egypt. God appears, supports Moses, and Joshua and Caleb, and proceeds ... to lose patience.

God tells Moses that God has had it with the Children of Israel. God is tired of their whining and complaining. Step aside, says God, and I will wipe them out. God wants to start all over, with a new people, who will be descended from Moses. How many times have children, students, colleagues, employees, bosses (the list goes on) driven us to extremes? We've worked so hard to get them to a certain point, and what happens? They fail; they disappoint; they fall short.

When Moses hears what God plans to do, Moses reminds God that God has made promises to these people, and to their ancestors, and appeals to God's 13 Divine attributes. One of these attributes is patience. Patience is not merely a virtue for Chaucer, it is a DIVINE virtue in the Torah. Perhaps it is Divine because it is so hard. We've worked so hard to get to a particular point. Who wouldn't lose it if it appears that everything is falling apart? Even God, it seems, needs a Moses to remind God of what is at stake if we lose our patience.

RABBI'S REFLECTIONS

My teacher, Rabbi Art Green, points out that, what went wrong here, is that the people's fear was greater than their confidence. They are afraid of fighting the nations of the Promised Land, whom they now discover live in fortified cities and have giants fighting on their side. This is going to be hard! Yes, God is on their side, and yes, the Israelites are fully capable of winning over the land. But, their 400 years of enslavement are still weighing heavily upon them. God, it would seem, has not adequately taken that history, and its psychological impact, into account.

Once God listens to Moses, and calms down, God realizes that the Israelites don't need to be destroyed; they need more time, 40 years to be exact. But, to get to this conclusion, God needed to calm down, and to listen to Moses. Patience is not easy. Ask any parent or teacher! It's apparently not easy even for God.

I will admit that patience is extremely difficult for me. I try very hard, but it is tough. In almost every situation, it helps to have a Moses to remind me what is at stake if I lose my cool. Do I really want to destroy everything I have worked so hard to achieve? Blowing up is never a constructive response. But..., it is sometimes hard not to.

There are times I have successfully controlled my temper. Those are the moments when I am able to stop reacting, and acknowledge that my feelings about other peoples' failures are just that: my feelings. Losing my patience is a lot more about the hurt to my ego, than it is about others' shortcomings. Can I stay calm enough to recognize that, and, by doing so, preserve what I have achieved so far? It's a work in progress. We are works in progress. May we all strive to show patience in the face of trying circumstances, and challenging people.

FROM THE DESK OF OUR PRESIDENT

Happy Summer! To me, summertime is a time to celebrate the outdoors, the bounty of the garden and growth, in general. So too, the FJCC is celebrating these things this summer.

Thanks to the Nursery School students, under the guidance of their teachers and Pam Nemeth, many seedlings were planted in the outdoor garden. The children made a spectacular start to the Giving Garden and had a spectacular school year. We are proud of the students' accomplishments as they move up to the next grade. So too, we are proud of all the high school and college graduates of the FJCC. Congratulations!

"It always amazes me to look at the little, wrinkled brown seeds and think of the rainbows" said Captain Jim. "When I ponder on them seeds I don't find it nowise hard to believe that we've got souls that'll live in other worlds. You couldn't hardly believe there was life in them tiny things, some no bigger than grains of dust, let alone colour and scent, if you hadn't seen the miracle, could you?"
— L.M. Montgomery, Anne's House of Dreams

On June 11th, we celebrated the beautiful outdoors of Hunterdon County as over 200 riders joined in the 6th annual FJCC Farmland Ride. The event was a huge success, thanks to the many ride-day volunteers led by Dena Scibilia, Mitch Clarin, Bruce Moskovitz, Barry Mittler, Nomi Forman, and John Fellin.

Moving on to the bounty of the garden ... we look forward to donating produce to the Flemington Food Pantry and Grow a Row. This year, the

FROM THE DESK OF OUR PRESIDENT

FJCC garden was expanded by 3 beds thanks to Glenn Gold and Rich Goldstein. And, the watering of the garden will be boosted due the installation of a drip watering system. Thank you to the North Hunterdon Rotary Club, the Nemeths, the Kestenbaums and Rutgers Nursery. The Rotary Club granted the funds toward the drip irrigation system as well as the lumber for one of the new beds. Jonathan and Pam Nemeth donated a second and the Kestenbaums made a donation toward the third bed and we're hoping more FJCC members will contribute the remaining $100 toward the third. Rutgers Nursery donated the soil for the 3 beds. The FJCC Giving Garden expects to donate lots of fresh tomatoes, kale, zucchini and more to the participants at the Flemington Food Pantry. The FJCC also looks forward to gleaning the fields for donations to America's Grow A Row. Please stay tuned for announcements from Mona Shapiro of the upcoming summer harvest dates.

Finally, I am happy to report that the FJCC staff family has grown. Please join me in welcoming Cantor Akiva Nelson to the FJCC. With Rabbi Cohen, Cantor Nelson will be leading services for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur this year. All of us will have an opportunity to meet him and hear his beautiful voice at services on Friday July 14th and Saturday July 15th . Please plan to attend and give him a wonderful, warm FJCC welcome!

Enjoy the relaxed pace of summertime!

HEBREW SCHOOL

What do we do when the kids aren't here? Plenty!! Kimi and I are tackling reorganizing the all the Hebrew School supplies. It is no small undertaking, but Kimi has it all under control. Rabbi and I are editing the handbook, and the Bnai Mitzvah guide. The staff is reviewing the curriculum and selecting books for the coming year. We are also preparing for High Holiday Junior Congregation.

Back to School packets will be sent out the week of July 17th . All forms are due back by August 14th . Please email me if you have any questions at kwash@flemingtonjcc.org.

The Hunterdon Central Regional High School Social Studies Department recently sent a letter of thanks to the Nicole Kalafer Scholarship Fund of FJCC for it's generous donation which allowed it's students visit the Holocaust Museum in Washington, DC on April 24, 2023.

On Sunday, June 25 the FJCC had a Genizah ceremony where we buried the siddurim and other books with God's name in the cemetery.

GIVING GARDEN

Hello Giving Gardeners,

I've just gotten back from vacation and was overjoyed visiting our garden again. The two new beds are full (thank you Amy and everyone else who planted in them) and the other ten beds are bursting with gorgeous big plants. We've got beans and peas and kale ready to be cut and brought to the food pantry!!! Sadly, most of the sunflowers along the fence are completely gone. No site of even a stem remaining. (It is a mystery as to what happened to them.) But two new sunflower plants planted two weeks ago are still there, as are a cucumber, corn and squash plant.

Thank you to the Rodriguez family, John Fellin, Rich Goldstein, Virgie and Jake Nemeth for watering.

The drip-line materials are here and - I can't believe I'm saying this - hopefully it will stop raining so the ground can dry and we can install our new watering system.

Lastly, I want to tell you our first delivery to the Flemington Food Pantry happened. New FJCC member Terri delivered eight absolutely magnificent heads of lettuce.

Remember: Don't throw away your apple cores, grass trimmings and coffee grounds. Compost them at the FJCC!!!

Stay dry everyone,

Pam

SPOTLIGHT ON SISTERHOOD

"I am a Jew because...." Essay

Samantha Muller

I am a Jew because of my family. Not only because of the matrilineal descent of Judaism but because of the vibrant traditions passed down to me. From the warm glow of Hanukkah candles to the sumptuous smell of my mother's Passover brisket, my year is made whole by centuries-old traditions that my family has adopted to become our own. Most notably, we fill our Passover table with neighbors and friends, many of whom are not Jewish. This simple act of inclusion represents to me the greater purpose of Judaism and its relevance in modern-time, to support and learn from one another. I am not a Jew to alienate myself from those of other faiths but rather to explore the religion which ties me to my ancestors, and to share in my traditions and those of others with an open mind. I view Judaism as a means of connecting with others rather than creating barriers, a way to connect with past, present, and future generations.

Through working with the first and second-grade class in Hebrew School, I have been granted the opportunity to aid the education of the next generation at the FJCC. Their growth throughout the year amazes me, and I am incredibly proud that I have been able to help them along the way. Regardless of how my week outside of the classroom had been, I was immediately rewarded through my time with them. Though their immense aptitude for the Hebrew language was often hidden behind a stubborn veil of "I would rather color", I witnessed a growing sense of self-confidence within each of them. Witnessing this growth has awarded me a greater appreciation for the numerous learning opportunities which Judaism provides.

Though the study of Hebrew is possibly the most obvious education provided by Judaism, I believe that being a Jew includes so much more. Through discussions of Torah stories and the welcoming community that has been fostered here at the FJCC, I have seen the moral framework that Judaism provides. From welcoming new members, to fundraising and volunteering together, our synagogue embodies what it means to serve one's community while helping one another become the best version of themselves. Judaism does not instill in one the fear of eternal damnation or the promise of a blissful afterlife as encouragement for one to be a good person, rather, Judaism expects that individuals will be responsible and kind members of their communities simply because it is the right thing to do.

Though the phrase "right thing to do" is highly subjective, Jews are granted the ability to decide for themselves how Judaism fits into their lives. Each sect of Judaism encourages a varied sense of conservativeness, and modern-day Jews are increasingly creating a unique definition of Judaism for themselves. For some, this may be living a strictly ultra-orthodox life. For others, this may be attending only high holiday services, or none at all, and holding in their heart the importance of respect and volunteerism. Though we are all vastly different, our shared identity as Jews ties us to one another and grants us the ability to appreciate the beautiful diversity of our world.

The poster features a black background. At the top left is a small blue logo for 'CENTERS SERIES'. To its right is a stylized film reel icon with orange and black segments. Further right, the text 'FJCC MOVIE CLUB' is written in a light blue, sans-serif font. In the center is a white rectangular box with a red border of yellow lights. Inside the box, the text reads: 'WATCH AT HOME', 'ITZACH', and 'THEN LET'S DISCUSS!'. At the bottom left, the date 'July 18' is written in white, followed by 'Discussions on Zoom' and 'Facilitated by Karen Walsh'. At the bottom right is an illustration of a red and white striped popcorn bucket overflowing with yellow popcorn.

This film looks beyond the 16-time Grammy-winning musician to see the polio survivor whose parents emigrated from Poland to Israel and the young man who struggled to be taken seriously as a music student when schools saw only his disability. In the film, Perlman's life story unfolds through conversations with fellow musicians and friends, including Billy Joel, Alan Alda, pianist Martha Argerich, cellist Mischa Maisky, and his wife of 50 years, Toby. The Perlmans dedicate their lives to their large Jewish family in New York City, their shared love for music, and their continual support of young musicians. Itzhak is a portrait of musical virtuosity that explores themes of Jewish identity, Jewish history, humor, and love.
